For cutting-edge kids' classes and birthday parties, L.A. parents head to Creative Space (creatvespaceusa.com), a pair of activity centers founded by three former movie-exec moms. Jamie Lee Curtis's 9-year-old son, Tom, recently took a Skateboard Art class. B

JILL DANIEL has a long list of kids' products to recommend. From www.123entertainment.com.
