

“I love what I do and feel privileged to serve as your podiatric physician.

Having healthy feet is often taken for granted, and for this reason I feel there is great value in preventing problems from occurring in the first place.

When problems do arise, my goals are to provide timely, inclusive and personalized treatment. We will discuss all available treatment options and work as a team to meet the challenge.”

Patient Education is Key

“I take the time to educate and involve my patients and believe their participation and goals are vital to creating an appropriate treatment plan. My approach to surgery is thoughtful and conservative. I will go into detail describing the risks and benefits associated with any procedure. It is important that you have all of the facts so that you can make an educated decision.”

A Quest for Knowledge

“I enjoy sharing knowledge and experiences through lecturing and writing. I am also involved in several ongoing research projects and remain actively engaged in multiple professional organizations. This helps me keep up with the latest methods and treatment options available in order to provide the best care possible.”
