AuthNet announces disaster relief program to assist with prior authorization and eligibility verification healthcare practices and hospitals impacted by Hurricanes Harvey & Irma.

The company is waiving all start-up and implementation fees to offer short-term supplemental assistance to help ensure patients are able to receive needed care while facilities and staff rebuild

Wilmington, DE  -  September 19, 2017 -- On the heels of Hurricanes Harvey & Irma devastating much of the Southern US, leading prior authorization outsourcing partner AuthNet, LLC, has announced a disaster relief program specifically for impacted physician practices, hospitals and laboratories across Florida, Georgia and South Carolina and southeast Texas, in an effort to help the tens of thousands of affected patients continue to access critical healthcare services.

AuthNet will waive all start-up and implementation fees associated with their service, and offer no-cost EHR integration options, to provide some immediate relief to facilities whose buildings and staff are still in the early stages of reopening or rebuilding from the storms. The company is also waiving any long-term commitment requirements as they aim to provide supplemental assistance while its most critical in the initial weeks and months of recovery.

AuthNet's program offers both eligibility verification and prior authorization, or precertification, services for referral and procedure-based requests, with both standard and "stat", or critical response, options available.

Impacted practices and hospitals can learn more by visiting AuthNet at www.Auth-Net.com or contacting the company directly at 888.506.5008.
