

Expanded Living Options at Cedar Hill Continuing Care Community

State-of-the-Art Memory Care Center, New Amenities, and Upgraded Living Space

In February 2015, Cedar Hill Continuing Care Community completed a $10.64 million expansion project that has tripled their independent and assistant living residential capacity and expanded their residential options to include a state-of-the-art, secure memory care center.

Cedar Hill has long been known as one of the finest continuing care communities in the region, providing high-quality services tailored to meet individual need since it was founded by Mary Louise Sayles and Judith Brogren in 1988. The community is currently co-owned by Mary Louise and her daughter Patricia Horn.

The Cedar Hill community is well-regarded by locals, employing nearly 100 people and serving residents and families from both sides of the Connecticut River. In an effort to keep the work in-state, Mary Louise and Patricia worked with Mackenzie Architects of Burlington, VT for the expansion design. Congress Construction of Peabody, MA, oversaw the project, bringing in local contractors to complete most of the work.

Cedar Hill Neighborhoods
