Consent for Counseling and Mandatory Disclosure

Degrees and credentials:

- Colorado Licensed Professional Counselor Candidate (LPC.0015144)
- M.A. in Counseling, Colorado Christian University
- B.A. in Sociology, University of Northern Colorado

I received a B.A. in Sociology from University of Northern Colorado and a M.A. in Counseling from Colorado Christian University. During my Master's program, I received experience working with broad populations (significant crisis and trauma work) through my practicum at Medical Center of the Rockies. I also interned at Light of the Rockies in my last year of graduate school. I worked with couples, individuals, teenagers, children, and families during this time. I also have been trained in EMDR, a specialized therapy used to treat trauma of many kinds. Currently I work with clients with a variety of struggles, including but not limited to body image and self-esteem, depression, anxiety, eating disorders, trauma, obsessive compulsive disorder, Autism spectrum disorders, marriage and couples work, and child and adolescent issues. I have an integrated approach to counseling, providing techniques that are specialized for the needs of each client, including Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, Psychodynamic, Interpersonal, and Narrative Therapy.

Because you are receiving counseling from Light of the Rockies Christian Counseling Center, you are entitled to know that each of the therapists practice counseling from a Christian perspective.

The Colorado Department of Regulatory Agencies has the general responsibility of regulating the practice of licensed and unlicensed counselors and marriage and family therapists. The agency with this responsibility is the State Grievance Board, 1560 Broadway, Suite 1350, Denver, CO, 80202, 303-894-7766. The regulatory requirements for mental health professionals provide that a Licensed Clinical Social Worker, a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist, and a Licensed Professional Counselor must hold a master's degree in their profession and have two years of post-master's supervision. A Licensed Psychologist must hold a doctorate degree in psychology and have one year of post-doctoral supervision. A Licensed Social Worker must hold a master's degree in social work. A Psychologist Candidate, a Marriage and Family Therapist Candidate, and a Licensed Professional Counselor Candidate must hold the necessary licensing degree and be in the process of completing the required supervision for licensure. A Certified Addiction Counselor I (CAC I) must be a high school graduate, and complete required training hours and 1,000 hours of supervised experience. A CAC II must complete additional required training hours and 2,000 hours of supervised experience. A CAC III must have a bachelor's degree in behavioral health, and complete additional required training hours and 2,000 hours of supervised experience. A Licensed Addiction Counselor must have a clinical master's degree and meet the CAC III requirements. A Registered Psychotherapist is registered/listed with the State Board of Registered Psychotherapists, but is not licensed or certified by the state, and no degree, testing, training or experience is required to obtain registration from the state. You are entitled to receive information from your therapist about the methods of therapy, the techniques used, fee structure and the duration of your therapy (if known). You may ask questions about your therapy at any time. You may discontinue therapy services at any time and for any reason. You are entitled to receive a second opinion from another therapist. If necessary, referrals to other counselors or marital and family therapists will be made available. In a professional therapeutic relationship sexual contact of any kind between a therapist and a client is never appropriate. If sexual intimacy between a client and therapist occurs, it should be reported to the State Grievance Board.

Confidentiality:

Both professional ethics and the Colorado State Mental Health Code-CRS 112.43.214 (1) (d) require that your privacy be carefully protected. Generally speaking, information provided by and to a client in therapy is legally confidential and will not be released to anyone without your written permission. Confidentiality can be broken by your therapist in certain circumstances as required by Colorado law (listed in section 12-43-218 of the Colorado Revised Statutes and the Notice of Privacy Rights you were provided) These circumstances are summarized below:

- (1) if you sign a release of information form that allows me to disclose information to individuals or institutions specified by you;
- (2) if you are using insurance benefits, I may disclose relevant information regarding diagnosis and treatment if requested by your insurance company;
- (3) if you are in danger of causing immediate harm to yourself or another person, I am required by law to report this to appropriate authorities;
- (4) if I am ordered by a court of law to disclose information about you (e.g., if I am served with a legitimate subpoena), I am required in some cases to respond to that order;
- (5) if you reveal information concerning neglect, physical or sexual abuse of a child or an elder, I am required by law to report this knowledge to the appropriate authorities;
- (6) if you are in therapy by order of a court of law;
- (7) if you are involved in a criminal or delinquency proceeding;

(8) if I need to provide another therapist with pertinent information when that therapist is on-call for my practice in my absence, or if, I consult with another colleague about your treatment. Supervision and case consultation of cases will occur with staff members of Light of the Rockies Christian Counseling Center. Any objections to this supervision or known affiliations with these parties should be shared with your therapist immediately.

Couples attending therapy together are informed that information shared with the therapist by one individual may be disclosed to the other party at the therapist's discretion. Other than these exceptions noted above, information shared in therapy is privileged communication and cannot be disclosed in any court of competent jurisdiction in the state of Colorado without your consent. Information shared in couple's therapy when both parties are present cannot be disclosed to other parties without the written consent of both parties attending the couples' sessions.

CANCELLATIONS

- Light of the Rockies Christian Counseling Center requires 24-hour notice for a cancellation of an appointment unless there is a true emergency. Examples of true emergencies would include sudden onset of fever or stomach flu. If you need to cancel your appointment, we prefer as much advance notice as you can give us so that we can potentially make the appointment available for another client. We need 1-week cancellation notice for 2-hour appointments.
- Under certain circumstances (example: a sick child or a snow day) you may be able to have your appointment with your therapist via phone. Please contact our office manager if you wish to have a phone appointment.
- An appointment cancelled with less than 24 hours' notice will be charged at your regular rate. Insurance cannot be billed for cancelled appointments, and clients will be responsible for paying the full fee for their missed session.

PAYMENTS

- Payment for your session is due at the time of service.
- Our counseling center prefers to take checks or cash. If necessary, we can also take credit cards (VISA and MasterCard, Discover, we cannot take American Express). We can also receive your benefit credit card (HSA, FSA), so that you can pay for counseling services pre-tax through a plan provided by your employer.
- If you have made other payments arrangements with the Office Manager, we require that all bills be brought up to date by the last business day of the month.

INSURANCE

- As a courtesy to our clients, we can bill your insurance company for your counseling sessions. Please make sure that we have the following information: a photocopy of both sides of your insurance card (which we can make at your first appointment), date of birth (both client and primary on the insurance), and a phone number to contact you.
- If for some reason your insurance does not pay (you may have a deductible due before benefits can be obtained), you will be responsible for the full amount owed. We require a credit card to be on file for this purpose.
- If you are a new client and we are checking your benefits we will ask you to make full payment for the first session. If your insurance allows for a co-pay, we will apply that first session's payment to the co-pay due. If you ever over-pay, a refund will be available to you.
- If you wish to use your insurance for counseling, it is important that you contact your insurance company to determine your mental health benefits. Your therapist may be an out of network provider, and that may affect your insurance benefits.
- If your health insurance requires pre-authorization, it is your responsibility to obtain this authorization code within two business days of your initial session. If this code is not obtained, you will be responsible for any fees not paid by your insurance company.

CLOSING

- For record keeping purposes, if you have not been seen for a counseling session within a two-month period, we will consider your file closed.
- You are always welcome to return to counseling at any time, and we will re-open your file at that time.

I have read and understand the financial policies of Light of the Rockies Christian Counseling Center.
