

Creatures of Struggle Struggling with Fear 8/16/2020

Which of the five books of the Psalms best reflects/relates to our country's current context?

The text identifies empire & return to shalom. Can we juxtapose Americas historical systematic oppression? Is covid a game piece in American reset to Shalom?

If God truly loves me then why has he let other people hurt me?

To what degree should our respect for other people's fear influence our behavior?

There are some churches in the US that have claimed the kingship of God as a reason to return to full gatherings. Can you speak to that theology?

How do we engage with those who are extremely fearful right now?

When you look at our country and its history (compared to Israel's) which of the 5 books of the Psalms do you think we can relate most to currently?

How do we be proactive instead of reactive in this season? (With God in mind)

How do you work this view of Psalms into your regular faith journey?

Can you speak to seeing God in others and community, the why faith in community is valuable.

How do you handle persecution, especially when it comes from a family member?
